

HELD IN MURDER

Declared by Detroit police to have been the "voice" that lured Jerry Buckley radio announcer, to the Detroit hotel where he was shot to death following the recall election aimed at Mayor Charles Bowles, Dorothy Duval has been arrested for questioning. She is shown here leaving a Detroit court room.

GERMAN PLANE WILL UNDERGO TRIALS TO DECIDE ON FLIGHT

Passenger Liner's Trip To America Is Not Abandoned

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Sept. 19.—The giant German airplane D-XX will undergo extensive trial flights next week with a view to reaching a definite decision on her projected cruise to America, it was announced here today.

Refuting reports published in the United States that the trans-Atlantic hop of the passenger liner had been postponed until next year, Maurice Dornier informed International News Service that the result of next week's trial flights alone will determine whether or not the D-XX will cross the ocean this year.

"We have all of October in which to get ready for the attempt," Dornier said. "We can go over even later by merely changing our route."

The take-off for America has been postponed several times because of unsatisfactory performance by the motors, which are of American make.

The plane has undergone numerous tests at its base at Altenrhein, Switzerland. At one time it carried 156 persons aloft as easily as it carries a dozen. However, on its first trip across the Atlantic it is to have a passenger list of only twenty-five selected persons, in addition to its crew.

TWO KILLED, THREE HURT AT CROSSING

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., Sept. 19.—One of the worst grade crossing tragedies in Massachusetts in many years today had cost the lives of two men, the injury to three others, and the narrow escape of several passengers on a speeding Boston and Maine express train which was derailed when it hit a truck loaded with live poultry.

The dead: George Rothstein, 18, of Boston, driver of the truck, and an unidentified man about 28 years old, riding on the truck. Sherborn, engineer of the express train, and J. J. Tatterstall, the fireman, burned when the gasoline tank of the truck exploded and showered them with flaming liquid; and Matthew Cahill, a passenger on the derailed train, injured about the back. All were of Newburyport.

PRINCESS WED IN SPITE OF PROTESTS

LONDON, Sept. 19.—Over-riding the objections of her family, the Princess Marie Charlotte Constantine De Broglie, noted woman member of the French aristocracy, was married quietly at a register office here today to Prince Louis Ferdinand D'Orleans Bourbon, a cousin of King Alfonso of Spain, according to the London Evening Standard.

EX-CONVICT DROWNS

PORTSMOUTH, N. O., Sept. 19.—Frank Holt, 44, former Ohio Penitentiary convict, was drowned in the Ohio River here late yesterday when he attempted to elude police who were seeking an alleged party of drunken men.

PROHIBITION WILL BE DOMINANT ISSUE IN NOVEMBER RACES

Eight Senate Seats And Fifty In House Face Wet-Dry Fights

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The extent to which the sharp knife of prohibition has cut across political lines and buried itself deep in the vitals of both major parties was revealed here today when, with primaries and nominating conventions virtually concluded, leaders estimated that no less than eight senate seats and approximately fifty house seats probably will be decided in November on the basis of the wet-and-dry issue alone.

This is by far the gravest number of clear-cut prohibition fights that any election has witnessed since the adoption of the eighteenth amendment. It is eloquent testimony, too, to the growing popular concern over prohibition.

With both parties split on the issue, the survey made since the conclusion of the primaries reveals that, generally speaking, it has been the Democrats who have been boldest about grabbing the wet end of the prohibition stick.

This is particularly true of the senatorial contests. Of the eight listed wherein prohibition is accounted the chief or deciding issue, the Democrats are wet in six and dry in two. In Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Massachusetts, Delaware and Rhode Island, the Democratic aspirants are opposed to prohibition.

In Montana and Colorado, the Democrats are rated dry, although Walsh in Montana has modified his stand to say he will be guided by the wishes of his constituents. Only three Republican senatorial candidates are considered openly and avowedly against prohibition—Morrow in New Jersey, Shaw in Colorado and Galen in Montana. There are some others, however, like Davis in Pennsylvania, and those in Michigan, who might be considered on the border line. Neither has taken a very positive

CURTIS DEFENSE IS AWAITING CALLING OF MORE WITNESSES

Counsel Summons Unknown To Testify At Trial

CLEVELAND, Sept. 19.—Hopes of Edward E. Curtis, former Canton councilman, for acquittal or leniency of sentence in his trial here in federal district court on charges of conspiring to violate the national prohibition law, today rested on the testimony of additional defense witnesses.

The appearance of an unknown "paramount" witness, as described by J. F. Keenan, counsel for Curtis, was expected in court when the trial reconvened this morning. The trial was adjourned shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday when Keenan asked for an extension of time to collect all the defense witnesses in the case. Judge Samuel H. West granted the request when he was told that Keenan had not been retained as counsel for Curtis until late Wednesday.

Numerous charges of graft on the part of Curtis, in "protecting" speakasies from police invasion, were hurled on the witness stand by Earl Stroup, self-admitted operator of several bootleg establishments in Canton, and Arthur B. Drukenbrod, former councilman, were emphatically denied by Curtis when he was called to take the stand in his own defense.

STOCKHOLDERS OF BANK BEING SUED

WILMINGTON, O., Sept. 19.—Forty-five suits against the number of stockholders of the Merchants and Farmers Bank at Blanchester, which was closed in October, 1928, because of "frozen assets," were on file here today. The suits were filed by O. C. Gray, state superintendent of banks, seeking payment of the balance due on liability assessments against the stockholders.

THEFT OF WIRE HALTS TRAINS

YORKVILLE, Ill., Sept. 19.—Theft of six miles of copper wire left the Fox and Illinois Railroad tied up today with only a battered handcar available for transportation.

Theft of the wire caused a complete traffic tie-up, and until it is found the handcar will be the only means of travel on the narrow gauge electric line, for its assets do not permit replacement. The road serves farmers of Kendall and Grundy counties.

FLIES TO FATHER

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept. 19.—Flying across the country to come to the bedside of her ill father, Amelia Earhart, noted woman pilot, was expected to arrive here today from New York. Her father, Edwin S. Earhart, an attorney, was reported seriously ill at his home here.

CLEVELAND MURDER BAFFLING POLICE; SUSPECTS ARE HELD

Alleged Beer Joint Proprietor Slain; Rival Sought

CLEVELAND, Sept. 19.—Victor Lehto, 35, proprietor of an alleged beer joint here, was found mysteriously murdered in his establishment today.

The body of the man with a bullet in the head was found lying prostrate on the floor of his reputed speakasy by August Tronberg, 34, a roomer in the building, who said he heard a scuffle in Lehto's place and a shot.

Within a short time after police had been notified of the murder, two men, one of whom is said to be the owner of a speakasy on the first floor of the building where Lehto maintained his establishment, were arrested and held for questioning. Police believe the murder was caused by rum rivalry.

Police believe that the murder took place shortly after midnight. Powder burns about the victim's head indicated that the fatal bullet had been fired at close range.

Tronberg told police that after the shot he thought he heard two men running down the stairs from Lehto's establishment.

Two or three customers were believed to have been in the speakasy when the murder occurred. The establishment was empty, save for the body of the slain man when Tronberg arrived.

Four persons who police believe may have witnessed the shooting were picked up. They were unable to give a coherent story, however, police said.

KILLS SELF AFTER SHOOTING AT WIFE

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 19.—Thinking that he had killed his estranged wife when he fired two shots at her, John Kelley, 55, is dead here today after taking his own life.

When her husband fired at her in the hallway of her home, Mrs. Mary E. Kelly tripped and fell at the foot of a staircase, one of the bullets having only slightly grazed her head. Kelly then turned the pistol upon himself and toppled over dead.

Kelly and his wife, whom he had been trying to persuade to return to him, had been estranged for several years. He was a painter.

DEMOCRATS SELECT GOVERNOR RITCHIE

BALTIMORE, Sept. 19.—Albert C. Ritchie, a pioneer opponent of constitutional prohibition, and exponent of states rights, was for the fourth time today Democracy's nominee for the governorship of Maryland.

The Democratic platform attacked prohibition in its usual fashion and advocated retreating the question of controlling liquor to the states.

Gov. Ritchie will be opposed in November by Wm. F. Broening, mayor of Baltimore. The Republican convention will be held Monday.

SALESMAN ADMITS BIGAMY CHARGE

MUNCIE, Ind., Sept. 19.—John Ferguson, salesman, was held here today on charges of bigamy and his case has been taken under advisement. He pleaded guilty to the charge when he was arraigned in circuit court.

Ferguson married Miss Charlie Brammer, Muncie society girl, last January. His first wife, Helen Bixley, whom he married in Cleveland four years ago, appeared in court yesterday with her three-year-old son.

WATCH CURB LINE

VIRTUALLY every boy has at some time been put out in a ball game because he played too far off the base.

"The curb line is the safety line," declares Oliver Belden, Greene County Auto Club secretary, which is now supplying safety posters to schools in Xenia.

Secretary Belden asserts children should be taught never to leave the curb until it is safe to cross the street, on the green light at controlled crossings. At uncontrolled crossings, children could stop at the curb and look in both directions to see if they are seen by approaching drivers before venturing away from the safety line, he added.

October, with its early twilight, is one of the peak months for accidents and "caution at the curb line" is the essential safety lesson, according to the auto club secretary.

ELIMINATION OF ALPHA HILL CURVE IS PLAN

Construction Of New Road In Rear Of School Planned

That the state highway department plans to eliminate the dangerous curve in the Dayton Xenia Pike at Alpha Hill this fall was disclosed Friday by County Surveyor W. J. Davis.

The state is expected to acquire the right-of-way for a strip of land eighty feet in width and a quarter of a mile in length, beginning at the top of the hill and connecting with the highway at a point at Old Alpha. The new route of the pike will pass back of the schoolhouse which stands at the curve in the road.

The county surveyor's office has already surveyed the proposed route and the construction of the road will be financed by the state but carried out under supervision of the county.

Contract for the project is expected to be let this fall by the state.

The curve in the road which is to be eliminated is directly in front of the home of Dr. George Anderson and has been the scene of numerous auto accidents in past years.

KIBITZER BLAMED FOR SHOOTING

A KRON, O., Sept. 19.—Gun shot wounds were being nursed by three men here today as the result of a dispute which followed the attempt of one of the men to play the part of a "kibitzer" in a friendly Italian game of Morra last night.

The wounded are Domenico Logoggo, 26, who was shot in the neck and right leg; Tony Ferraro, 56, shot in the right groin and leg; and Fred Micale, shot in the right hand.

Logoggo, according to police, was playing Morra when Ferraro tried to show him a few new tricks in the game. Logoggo ordered Ferraro away from the table. The latter obeyed but returned with a revolver.

The shooting took place in an apartment in the Italian district here, while he was witnessing the gun play between the two men.

Both Logoggo and Ferraro who were taken to St. Thomas Hospital are expected to recover.

"BELLINGS" BANNED
MARION, O., Sept. 19.—A ban on wedding party "bellings" has been made by Mayor Jones here as the result of previous parties which have created alleged disturbances to the newlyweds and neighbors.

REPORT REBELLION OF PEIPING ENDS; GOVERNMENT FALLS

Leader Resigns And Nan-king Again Has Sway In China

SHANGHAI, Sept. 19.—The Peiping government, a stumbling block for the past year and a half to the Nanking government, collapsed today with the resignation of its leader, General Yen Hsi-Shan, according to authentic information received from the Northern capital.

The virtual end of the rebellion which at times threatened to sweep the Nanking regime out of existence came as the culmination of futile efforts to secure concerted support from the Northern coalition in his military campaign, together with failure of Chang Hsueh-Lian, Manchurian warlord, to pool resources and manpower with him.

Withdrawal of Yen from the helm of the rival government caused extensive jubilation in Nanking official circles, where it is felt that latest developments indicated an early cessation of hostilities. Yen's resignation left Fen Yu-Hsiang alone in the field, whose military position will be greatly weakened by the reported withdrawal of Yen's troops from the Tientsin-Pukow Railway holdings into mountain-enclosed Shansi.

General Yen Hsi-Shan without doubt wielded the greatest influence in the Northern coalition and was perhaps the sustaining factor of Nanking's Northern rival. His position in Shansi Province, where he is known as then "model governor," has always been considered impregnable.

Retirement as active head of the Peiping administration left the regime in the hands of Wang Ching-wei, left Wing Kuomintang leader. As co-leader of rebellion, Nanking heads have charged him also with instigating Communist outbreaks that some months ago culminated in the looting and pillaging of Changsha, capital of Hunan province.

DENIALS OF PUTSCH FAIL TO HALT TALK

BERLIN, Sept. 19.—Official assurances from every conceivable source that a Fascist "putsch" was "ridiculous and impossible" apparently fell upon deaf ears today as continued rumors of a projected coup d'etat by the national Socialist party caused widespread alarm throughout the country.

Stocks slumped another ten points on the Berlin bourse after dropping heavily when first allegations of the "putsch" were published yesterday. Efforts by the government to stem the tide of rumors and reports by a series of flat denials seemed to have failed, temporarily at least.

The Fascist cause was given an additional impetus today when the economic party, one of the smaller parliamentary bodies in the Reichstag, announced it had joined with the national Socialists in their demand for dissolution of the Prussian diet and the holding of new elections.

METHODIST CHURCH CONSIDERS MERGER

MT. VERNON, O., Sept. 19.—Definite conclusion regarding the proposed merger with the Central German Methodist Episcopal conference was to be reached today at the annual northeastern Ohio conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church which is being held here. The merger was proposed by Bishop Adna W. Leonard, presiding officer of the conference.

The German conference, Bishop Leonard said, is ready to discuss consolidation. The German group comprises Ohio and adjoining states.

The conference yesterday voted $10,800 for the Wesley foundation to be included in the conference budget. The total conference budget was $24,000.

Reports on Wesley foundation and Methodist activities at Ohio State University, Oberlin College and Kent State College, were given at yesterday's session, at which Dr. Samuel L. Stewart presided.

TRUCK KILLS BOY

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 19.—When he stopped to pick up a package which he had dropped while he was returning home from school yesterday afternoon, Charles Bowman, Jr., 10, was fatally injured when a truck backed over his body. He died in a hospital an hour later.

"IDEAL MARRIAGE" FAILS

Vera King Lederer, Former Follies Beauty, Divorced From Ore Magnate

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 19.—What was once called on Broadway "an ideal marriage" was only a dream after all, it appeared in common pleas court here today where there was recorded a divorce decree granted to Vera King Lederer, former Follies beauty, from Morris T. Lederer, wealthy Cleveland ore magnate.

The decree was granted yesterday by Judge Alvin Pearson. The suit, in which Mrs. Lederer charges extreme cruelty and gross neglect, was

WILL COME BACK

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 19.—

Sir Thomas Lipton is steaming out of Breton's Cove tonight and saying goodbye to the place for perhaps the last time. He said: "I think the best boat won this series of races, but I too think we did not prepare for it sufficiently in advance."

"If God lets me live until I can find another challenger that appeals to me I shall come back again and try once more for the America's Cup."

"My heart is filled with gratitude for the fine sportsmanship I have met here."

CHAMPIONS REPEAT IN AMERICAN; LEAD EXTENDED BY CARDS

Brooklyn Is Now Two Games Behind With Seven To Play

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—With only nine more games to play, the National League leaders, St. Louis and Philadelphia, while the second place Robins enjoyed a day of rest, Chicago, in third place, opened with the Braves at Boston.

Brooklyn is two games behind the Cardinals and Chicago is two and one-half games in the rear.

The Robins have only seven more games to play and the experts figured this morning only a near-miracle would put the flock back on the top of the column, while only an outside chance was given the Bruins.

New York, in fourth place, is five and one-half games behind St. Louis and out of the race. The Giants engaged Cincinnati here today.

Standings today were:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Louis	53	60	.586
Brooklyn	54	63	.571
Chicago	53	63	.568
New York	49	66	.548

The Cardinals' sweep of the series with Brooklyn eliminated the Robins in the opinion of some of the experts and yesterday's smacking down of the Cubs by the Giants put a crimp in the chances of Chicago. Pointing out that St. Louis owned Brooklyn three times after the Robins held Chicago to one run in three games, the wise ones said today the superiority of the Cardinals was clearly established and held that it was all over but the shouting.

By downing Chicago, the world champion Athletics won the American League bunting again. The 1930 pennant is the eighth for Manager Connie Mack and gave the Athletics all time honors in titles won. New York and Boston have each won six times.

BLAMES DIRECTOR

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19.—Jocelyn Lee's cross-complaint to a divorce action filed against her by Luther A. Reed, film director, was on file here today. The motion picture actress charged that the war in their household was caused by her husband and not herself.

PARALYSIS VICTIM KEPT IN RESPIRATOR

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—Miss Frances McGann, 25-year-old student nurse of Alton, Ill., began her seventh day today within the aluminum walls of the "drinker respirator" which has kept her from suffocation since last Friday.

Attendants at St. Luke's Hospital watched the gradual rise and fall of the girl's chest through glass panels in the device today and announced there was a good chance of her recovery from paralysis which affected her chest muscles and prevented natural breathing.

Now that she is free, Mrs. Lederer said today that she doesn't know what she will do. She said that she did not know whether she would return to the stage. Her maiden name was restored.

NAVY RESERVE PILOT CLAIMS BODY OF BRIDE

Death Of Aviator Reveals Her Secret Marriage

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 19.—Robert A. Elliott, navy reserve pilot of Brooklyn, N. Y., notified of the airplane crash which took the life of his aviator-bride, Ruth Alexander, today was expected to take charge of the girl flier's body.

Details of the death crash were given Elliott last night when the aircraft carrier Saratoga, on which he is stationed, anchored off Long Beach, Cal. Miss Alexander's death revealed her secret marriage to Elliott four months ago.

Attempting a transcontinental flight from San Diego to New York, the young woman took off at dawn here yesterday. Shortly afterward her low-winged monoplane went into a spin and crashed while she was attempting to climb through a thick fog.

Searching the hotel rooms of the dead girl, police found that she had been married on June 21 to Elliott in Yuma, Ariz. With the wedding certificate was a note to Elliott addressed "to my husband, Bob," which indicated that the girl had not overlooked the possibility of death. It was weighed down by her wedding ring.

Friends of the daring aviator were surprised to hear of her second marriage inasmuch as she was not known to have received a divorce from her first husband, Mac Alexander, an Irving, Kan., farmer.

Reports here that she was the defendant in a divorce action filed in Kansas by Alexander were under investigation today.

Three notes were found in Miss Alexander's hotel room which indicated the young woman's strong premonition of death. Friends denied that she was contemplating suicide for the notes were marked "to be opened in case of death."

"Life is strange, honey," the message to Elliott read. "If I have preceded you, do not grieve for me. Be content as I am content. Finish your work down here and make me proud of you so I ever will be at your side. And when you come I will welcome you. Always I will love you and wait for you. And, sweetheart, keep my wedding ring with you."

Complete directions for her funeral were in another note and a third was addressed to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Blaney of Irving, Kan.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 19.—A report that Ruth Alexander, record-holding girl flier, had chosen a sensational means of committing suicide when her plane crashed at Point Loma was emphatically denied today by Coroner Schuyler C. Kelley.

"There is no basis for that theory," he told International News Service. "The notes Miss Alexander left were studied carefully by me, and in my considered judgment, the notes were exactly the kind a thoughtful person would leave when embarking on a dangerous journey."

"Among intimate friends of Miss Alexander whom we have questioned, there was no hint of any depressed mental condition. On the contrary the girl was cheerful and even gay, her every contact emphasizing her joy of life, her adventurous spirit and her happiness, which her friends believe was due to her recent marriage to Lieutenant Elliott, whom she loved."

SUSPECT HELD FOR JAIL PLOT

RISING SUN, Ind., Sept. 19.—Ted Geisking, alleged Louisville, Ky., gangster, was held by local police today on three charges in connection with a jail-break here last June 15.

The charges are auto banditry, aiding a prisoner to escape and assault and battery with intent to kill.

He was brought here last night from Louisville by Sheriff Leon Neal, who identified him as one of two men who entered the jail with drawn revolvers and liberated Alex Geisking, Ted's brother, and Harry Sheldon. The companion was Lawrence Hlat, who is now at liberty under $1,000 bond.

Geisking has denied that he was in Rising Sun the day of the jail delivery. He was arrested at Louisville in connection with the slaying of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, reporter for the Chicago Tribune. Witnesses failed to identify him as the murderer and the charges were dropped.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY KILLED BY AUTO

ZANESVILLE, O., Sept. 19.—Alexander Sentivany, 15-year-old Zanesville high school junior, is dead today as the result of injuries which he received late last night when he was struck by an automobile which police say was driven by G. W. Gaus, three miles west of here.

Gaus told police that his car struck the youth when he was passing another machine. Sentivany and three companions were walking along the opposite side of the road. Gaus was released.

SPLASH

By Eleanore Burnett

CHAPTER 49

Atlee drank the toast with her gaily. Then he asked, "Who's a liar, by the way?"

"Men, generally!" responded Kitty.

As if struck by a sudden thought, Atlee whirled in his chair. His face set and grave. Gordon had turned away. Atlee stared after him a moment, then faced Kitty again.

"Platt!" he gasped. "What—how do you know him?"

"Was that Mr. Platt?" asked Kitty, her heart going like a trip hammer. Her prayer was answered! She had had her chance, had cut him in public as once he had cut her. Now that she had done it, her heart was like lead in her breast, for all its speedy jumping. Fairness had told her that Gordon had refused to recognize her because he was playing a part in which she was supposed to be helping him. Her failure to recognize him—her insulting toast, which he could hardly fail to know was directed to him—had been dictated by nothing but daring, a spirit of revenge. It was not ladylike. Kitty knew, miserably. It made her feel not happy, but disgusted with herself.

All this in a flash.

"Sure, that was Platt, the bound!" cried Atlee. Then, as once before, "How I hate that man!"

"Why?" asked Kitty.

"Because—Oh, you said we started fresh!" cried Atlee. "Don't let's spoil a perfect evening with talk of a snake!"

"Why do you call him a snake?" persisted Kitty. She was curious, but it was now an impersonal curiosity. She told herself she was no longer interested in Gordon Platt. She was interested in Atlee and his affairs. If he had reason to hate her former lover, doubtless it was a good one.

"Because he laid his filthy hands on my life, and—never mind!" Atlee muttered.

Kitty did not pursue the subject. It was none of her business. Something in her revolted at getting information about Gordon from a man who hated him. Whatever Gordon had done, no matter how perfidious he had been, regardless of the lies he had told her and his infamous conduct in becoming engaged to her while loving Edith—why, why, should he have done so? What would have helped him without that—in spite of all these things, Gordon had been her lover. She had given him her heart. She had believed in him. She had been going to marry him.

He was out of her heart, out of her life, and he was out of her thoughts, a inquiry regarding him to discover his past was beneath any self-respecting woman. She was sorry, now, that she had cut him—it seemed so childish. She was sorrier that she had flung that taunting toast in his face—that was unadvisable. Sorriest of all that it had led Atlee to look around and see the man he hated, and thus bring him up as a subject of conversation and inquiry.

She tried to recover the mood into which her ex-lover had broken with such suddenness, but it would not come back. Atlee seemed morose and miserable, almost frightened. He looked oddly at Kitty, as if he wanted to ask her something and didn't quite dare. In place of exhilaration, the feeling of isolation from trouble, or pleasure in music and dance, she was suddenly weary.

The gay spirit left her; only garishness remained of what had been, if not a happy evening, at least one of excitement and novelty.

"Let's go home!" she proposed.

"I'm tired, Atlee."

He nodded. It took ten minutes to get their waiter and pay the check—Kitty saw two yellow back bills pass from Atlee's hands. Then she was in the cloak room, putting on her wraps. She hoped she would not see Gordon again as she went out. What was he doing in the Golden Pheasant? Had he a woman with him? Edith? Some other girl? Probably!

She refused to look around the tables. She would not yield her pride to her curiosity. She rejoined Atlee with downcast eyes and was

Remembers Andree

Michael Berdinkoff, now a resident of Los Angeles, is believed to be the last man now living who saw the doomed explorer, Andree, alive. Berdinkoff, then 12 years of age, was on a boat carrying a scientific expedition into the Arctic when the Andree balloon passed over them while on its way to the pole. All of Berdinkoff's companions of the expedition are now dead.

It has been the League's boast for years that it made it "politically unsafe to be wet." The Association, proceeding on the same line, is endeavoring to make it equally as politically unsafe to be dry.

In the primary campaigns just ended it has without exception supported the wet candidate irrespective of party.

It will do so in the approaching election in November. Where both candidates are wet, as in the New Jersey senate contest, and in many congressional districts in the East, the association keeps hands off, as has been the policy of the League were both candidates have been dry.

Leaders in the Association confidently predict a gain of thirty-five to forty seats for the wets in the house. Republican and Democratic leaders are privately inclined to view this as a fair estimate. Some think it will be larger.

In the present congress, the wets claimed to have a bloc of nearly 100 votes which they could muster on a given show-down. Because of the conditions arising out of the 1928 election, and the immense Republican majority, this wet strength was considered abnormally. With the off-year swing toward normalcy, if the wets can make good their prediction of picking up some thirty-five to forty seats, there appears to be a strong prospect of the seventy-second congress containing a formidable and probably an exceedingly militant wet bloc—by no means approaching a majority, but still strong enough to make things interesting for the dry majority.

stand on the issue.

The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, organized and financed on a permanent basis after the 1928 election, "points with pride" to the fomenting of so many clear-cut contests in the forthcoming elections.

The association, non-political or rather bi-partisan, has modeled its efforts somewhat after those of its dry rival, the Anti-Saloon League, by going out into congressional districts and state contests and en-

Resolution No. 424

DECLARING IT NECESSARY TO IMPROVE FAIRGROUND AVENUE FROM THE INTERSECTION AT KING STREET TO THE CORPORATION LINE BY LAYING A WATER MAIN.

BE IT RESOLVED by the City Commission of the City of Xenia, State of Ohio, (three-fourths of all members elected thereto concurring):

SECTION 1. That it is necessary to improve Fairground Avenue from the intersection of King Street to the corporation line by laying a water main in accordance with the plans and specifications hereinafter referred to.

SECTION 2. That the plans, specifications, estimated and profiles of the proposed improvement, heretofore prepared by the engineer and now on file in the office of the City Auditor, be and the same are hereby approved.

SECTION 3. That the whole cost of said improvement, less one-fifth (1-5th) thereof, and the cost of intersections, shall be assessed by the foot front upon the following described lots and lands, to wit: all of the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement, which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specially benefitted by said improvement, and the cost of said improvement shall include the expenses of the preliminary and other surveys, the printing and publishing of notices, resolutions and ordinances required, and the serving of said notices, the costs of said construction, together with interest on notes and bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments, and all other necessary expenditures.

SECTION 4. That the assessment so to be levied shall be paid in ten (10) annual installments, with interest on deferred payments at the same rate as shall be borne by the bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection thereof, provided that the owner of any property assessed may at his option pay such assessment in cash within thirty (30) days after the passage of the assessing ordinance.

SECTION 5. That the bonds of the City of Xenia, Ohio, shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in amount equal thereto, and notes of said City shall be issued in anticipation of the issue of such bonds.

SECTION 6. That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement, not specially assessed, including the cost of intersections, together with the cost of any real estate or interest therein, purchased or appropriated; and the costs and expenses of any appropriation proceeding therefore, and the damage awarded any owner of adjoining lands and interest thereon, and the costs and expenses of any such award shall be paid out of the Water Department Fund.

SECTION 7. This resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed this 11th day of September, 1930.

F. M. Chambliss
President of City Commission.

disagree with the contention that the two masts won and lost yesterday's race.

On the beat to windward over the first ten miles of the triangular course, Shamrock was more than nine minutes behind Enterprise. On the second ten miles, a so-called "close reach," it had picked up almost two minutes. On the third leg, a broad reach, it had picked up more than two minutes.

The answer? According to the peaked caps, the answer was found in the fact that Shamrock, with a mast weighing over a ton more than Enterprise's, couldn't point high enough going into the wind and, therefore, had to tack on such a broad basis that the race ceased to be a race after the first five minutes. So much for tactical racing.

Historic Talk Features First B. P. W. Meeting

Boston with its old historical landmarks, reminiscent of the days of the American Revolution, was vividly described in an entertaining and interesting manner by Miss Annie K. Haynes at the opening meeting of the new year of the Xenia Business and Professional Women's Club at the First United Methodist Church Thursday evening.

LUB CALENDARS OR YEAR ISSUED

Club calendars for the year 1930-1931 were issued to members of the Xenia Business and Professional Women's Club at the first meeting of the year, held Thursday evening, September 18. Many interesting programs are being planned for this year. The birthday party of the club will be celebrated October 16 at the Parish House and Miss Helen Greene, Antioch College, will give book review of "Humanity Unveiled" at this meeting. Mr. M. M. Olders, Dayton, will address members at the meeting to be held November 20 and his subject will be, "Far Eastern Impressions." A Christmas party under the supervision of Miss Helen Graham will be held by the club on December 15.

Members are looking forward to an interesting address at the meeting to be held January 15 when Miss Helen Joan Hultman, Dayton, will talk on "The Making of Myself." Speakers have not been obtained for the February 19 and March 19 meetings. The club's annual vocational meeting will be held April 16 at which time Miss Grace Willett, Antioch College, will be the speaker. Social work pertaining to children will be discussed by Miss Elizabeth Walker of the O. S. and S. O. Home on May 21 and the year's work will be brought to a close at the annual business meeting to be held June 8.

The club has as its officers this year: president, Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson; vice president, Miss Virginia Fletcher; recording secretary, Miss Helen Hurley; treasurer, Miss Helen Dodds; and assistant treasurer, Miss Mary Beale.

BAPTIST CHURCH HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

Members of the First Baptist Church met at the church on E. Market St., Wednesday evening, September 17, for the annual fellowship meeting of the year. Thirty-five members and their families enjoyed supper in the Sunday School rooms at 6:30 o'clock, followed by a business meeting at 7:30 o'clock.

Annual reports were read and outline business was transacted after which church officers were elected for the coming year as follows: church clerk, Miss Bertha McCarty; current expense treasurer, Mr. Charles Taylor; missionary treasurer, Mrs. Harley Wolary; trustees, Messrs. Vinton Hull and C. C. Bullock; deacons, Messrs. Donald Trunnell and Percy Smith; deaconesses, Mrs. Charles Taylor, Mrs. C. S. Van Horn and Mrs. L. C. Bullock. Sunday School officers were appointed as follows: superintendent, Mr. S. W. Guyton; assistant, Miss Harriett McCarty; secretary, Mrs. Leroy Dunfee and treasurer, Mrs. Carl Warner. Officers of the church societies are: president of the Women's Missionary Society, Mrs. J. Howard Jones; president of the Women's Auxiliary, Mrs. J. C. Denham; president of the Philathea Class, Mrs. C. S. Van Horn and president of the World Wide Guild, Mrs. Carl Warner.

SURPRISE PARTY HELD THURSDAY EVENING

Thirty relatives and friends of Mrs. Stephen Cline arranged a surprise on her at her home on the Hussey Pike Thursday evening. A covered dish supper was served followed by a social time during the evening. Mr. James Adams entertained the guests with a number of harmonica solos.

Those present at the party were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Cline and children, Virgil and Geneva; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Adams, Xenia; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Cline, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pickering and children, Herbert and Mildred; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Adams, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cline, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Cline and sons, Harold, Ernest and Eugene and daughter, Catherine; Miss Thelma Horney, Jeffersonville; Miss Mary Elizabeth Harley, Lambertton; Mr. and Mrs. Will Adams and children, Robert, Earl Leon, Glen Russell and Helen.

HONORED ON BIRTHDAY SUNDAY

A birthday dinner in honor of the eighty-fifth birthday of Mrs. Mary Whitington was given at her home on the Valley Pike last Sunday. Guests at the dinner were: Mr. Frank Weaver, a brother of Mrs. Whitington; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Weaver and sons, Jimmy and Jack, Bellbrook; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brelsford, Mr. and Mrs. John Harness, Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Stewart and son, William, near Osborn; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitington and daughter, Hazel; Mr. Elmer Williamson, of Eleazer neighborhood; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beard and daughters, Mildred and Marie, Bowersville.

ENTERTAINS AT DINNER THURSDAY EVENING

Mrs. Harold C. Messenger, N. King St., entertained a group of friends from Springfield at a charmingly appointed six o'clock dinner at her home Thursday evening. The dinner was for the pleasure of Miss Rachel Anthony, Paris, France, who is visiting relatives in Springfield.

Guests at the dinner were: Miss Anthony, Mrs. Howard Anthony and the Misses Martha Winger, Kathleen Corry, Katherine Kelly, Marceline Fairbanks and Martha Johnson.

Miss Martha Loud of the American Council of the Ramah Mukti Mission will speak at the opening exercises of the First Reformed Sunday School Sunday morning at 9:15 o'clock. All members of the Sunday School are urged to be present to hear Miss Loud's address.

AMERICA'S RADIO QUEEN FOR 1931

Queen of the radio beauties for 1931 is the title that has been showered upon Bernadine Hayes, a redheaded young lady whose voice from Chicago is a familiar one to radio fans. She won over representatives of stations from all parts of the United States and will reign at the New York Radio World's Fair.

A number of Xenia women will attend the all-day meeting of Women's Aid of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Cincinnati division, to be held next Thursday in the club rooms, Eastern Ave., Cincinnati.

Meeting of the McGervey Bible Class of Trinity M. E. Church has been postponed from Monday evening, September 22, to September 29, as the teacher, Mrs. Emma Zell is out of town. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Edward Meahl, E. Second St.

Mrs. Marvin Moore, Hill St., is spending several days with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Nicholson, Saylor Park, Cincinnati. Mrs. Moore has just returned from a motor trip to Canada with Mr. and Mrs. Nickson.

Mrs. A. L. Oglesbee, N. Galloway St., was the guest this week of friends in New Castle, Ind.

All officers and members of Obadiah Council, No. 160, D. of A., are asked to be present at the meeting Tuesday evening at which time a degree will be conferred. Payment of dues will be accepted at this meeting. Following the business session refreshments will be served.

Mr. Ralph Thomas, who has left Dayton to establish a music studio in Los Angeles, Calif., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas, 120 N. Galloway St., this city.

Members of the Junior Missionary Society of the Second U. P. Church will hold their regular monthly meeting at the church, Saturday, September 20 at 2 p. m. Mothers of junior members are invited to attend the meeting. Juniors are asked to bring pictures of Mexico to be used in the scrapbook.

Mr. Watkins Frame, W. Market St., will leave Friday night for Evanston, Ill., to spend a week with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dodds.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Faulkner and Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hartsook, south of Xenia, will spend the week end in Alliance, O., with Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Fulton.

The Rev. and Mrs. L. A. Washburn moved this week from E. Main St., to their new home at 1014 W. Green St., Piqua. The Rev. Mr. Washburn was recently transferred from Trinity M. E. Church to the pastorate of Grace M. E. Church, Piqua.

The Rev. Adrian G. Lehold, pastor of the First Lutheran Church, has been confined to his home the past week on account of illness.

MIAMI EXTENSION CLASS ORGANIZED HERE ON THURSDAY

The extension class of Miami University, under Prof. J. E. Collins, met in the Court House Thursday evening and organized for its coming year's work. Work of the class will begin next Friday evening and the class will continue to meet Friday evening of each week until the beginning of the basketball season when a more convenient time will be decided upon.

Teachers wishing to save both time and money by getting in this semester the equal of a six weeks' term next summer, will find it possible to do so provided sufficient numbers desire it. The course will merit from three to five credit hours for the fifteen meetings to be held between now and the holiday season.

was always tired

IN EVERY WALK of life you meet the "Drowsy Bills" . . . men and women who are losing out because they are always tired. They try hard enough . . . but most often the poisons from constipation sap energy and strength—and bring illness, defeat and old age prematurely.

What a pity, when eating a delicious cereal could prevent it all! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation! Two tablespoons daily—at every meal, in severe cases.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings relief in a natural, healthful way, by sweeping the intestines of all poisonous wastes.

Eaten regularly, it helps keep the system healthfully clean.

Isn't this far better than taking pills and drugs that are often habit-forming and may become ineffective?

ALL-BRAN also adds iron to the blood. It is a delicious cereal with milk or cream. Use it in cooking too. Recipes on the package. At your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Greene County Teachers' Association will be held in the county board of education offices Saturday morning, September 20. The purpose of the meeting is to consider arrangements and programs for two general teachers' meetings to be held October 11 and February 14. Members of the executive committee are: president, H. B. Furst, vice president, R. E. Corbill, secretary, C. A. Devos, Miss Carrie Rife, Mrs. Anna Prossman and Mrs. Harold Fawcett.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hoffman have moved from South Bend, Ind., to the Huston property on N. Detroit St., this city. Mr. Hoffman is now assistant trainmaster on the Cincinnati division of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Mrs. A. B. Kester, N. King St., who has been ill for several weeks, is still confined to her bed.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Matott moved Thursday from their home on N. Galloway St., to Fort Wayne, Ind., where Mr. Matott has been transferred by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Mr. John H. Pumphrey, Columbus, spent Thursday in this city with Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Kester, N. King St.

LOCAL SCOUTS MAY ACT AS USHERS AT OHIO STATE GAMES

Greene County Boy Scouts will have an opportunity to act as ushers at any or all of Ohio State University's five home football games at Ohio stadium this season. It is disclosed by Homer T. Gratz, field executive for Tecumseh Council.

All that is necessary is for local Scouts to be in full uniform while on ushering duty.

All Scouts wishing to serve as ushers at the stadium must send in their applications to their local Scoutmasters within the next week in order that assignments may be made and passes mailed for distribution.

Scouts will receive more detailed instructions regarding their duties as ushers from local Scout officials.

Ohio State's home games this fall include: Mt. Union—Sept. 27; Indiana—Oct. 4; Michigan—Oct. 18; Wisconsin—Nov. 1; Pittsburgh—Nov. 15.

It is also announced that local Scouts may serve as ushers at Wittenberg College's seasonal opener at Springfield, September 26. This will be a night game and Scouts will be required to report at the stadium by 6:30 p. m.

Each troop will be permitted to take as many boys as desire to go on the trip but Mr. Gratz must know the exact number of Scouts by next Tuesday.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Apprehended in Dayton and returned to Xenia Thursday night by deputies of the local sheriff's office, Roy Van Neff pleaded not guilty to a charge of non-support when arraigned before Probate Judge S. C. Wright Friday morning. He was remanded to jail in default of $500 bond to await a hearing assigned for 9 a. m. next Friday. The affidavit was filed against Van Neff by his mother-in-law, who charged him with failure to provide for his minor child.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

CHILDREN AND THE KINGDOM—There were brought unto him little children, that he should put his hands on them, and pray; and the disciples rebuked them. But Jesus said, Suffer little children, and forbid them not, to come unto me, for of such is the kingdom of heaven.—Matthew 19:13, 14.

BUSINESS IN CHANGING DAYS

One of the striking changes of modern times, is the tendency of people to move around from place to place. They do not stay put in one town the way they used to. Populations are very shifting. The residents of most towns are quite a different set of people from what they were five years before, and they will be quite different in five years from now.

To meet these changes in populations, business concerns have to do much more to call the attention of the public to their service. Years ago, when people settled down in one community and lived there all their lives, they became more familiar with the business places of their home towns. Today, when the population of any town and its surrounding country includes a large element of people who have lived there only a short time, long established business reputations do not go so far.

When a new family moves into a locality, the first thing they are interested in is to decide where to go for their supplies. They buy the newspapers of near by trade centers, to get some idea of the business of the place. They study the advertising in those newspapers, and they are apt to patronize the places that show the most enterprise in their advertising.

The fact that some concern had been in business there for a long time does not mean so much to them. If such a concern failed to use advertising, while a newly established one advertised freely, their tendency would be to look at the advertised store as showing the most enterprise and push, and hence they would be likely to patronize that store.

A retail store needs to do a lot of advertising to catch the trade of newcomers, people who have recently moved into the near by and outlying country, and young folks who are just setting out to buy things for themselves.

GARDEN THIEVERY

Formerly theft of fruit products was mostly confined to boys, who raided fruit trees and grape vines, simply eating what they wanted at the time. Nowadays many people make it a regular habit to drive out of cities in their automobiles, and raid gardens along the roads. A hard working gardener may come out some morning, and find his vegetables stripped by such thieves.

Automobiles give such people the power to roam over a vast extent of country, pick out spots on lonely roads where they can steal easily, and when the time is ripe descend on these farms and stock up for months.

This is no mere kid mischief, but planned thievery to be dealt with like any crime. People who raid gardens and orchards should have their automobile licenses revoked if the same can be identified, and given penalties they will remember.

FASHIONABLE EDUCATION

In former years, many wealthy people used to seek for their children what was called fashionable education. It was considered of first importance to teach them cultured manners and how to behave in society. It was not necessary for them to earn a living, so polish counted more than solid knowledge.

Today, most young people, even the children of people of ample means, desire to go to work. A merely fashionable education is not enough. They want to be well fitted for some occupation.

It is a fine thing to have polished manners. Yet boys and girls need more than that. Young people whose parents have money have much influence, and many of them are destined to be community leaders. They need a substantial and broad education, so that their influence shall be cast in favor of generous community policies and genuine progress.

The WAY of the WORLD

By GROVE PATTERSON

FROM FARMER TO US

The most wasteful machine in the world is our American system of food distribution. So says Girard in the Philadelphia Enquirer, and he speaks a volume. About 95 per cent of a loaf of bread is wheat. Of the 10 cents you pay for the loaf, the farmer gets but a cent. The city buyer pays enough for food to give the farmer a dollar a bushel for corn and two dollars for wheat—but does he get it? Ask him.

Our method of distribution is too complicated. Food passes through too many hands. Too much money, from consumer to farmer, is dropped along the way.

DRUGGERY

Don't be afraid of the word drugger. Don't say your life is just made up of it. Mrs. Thomas A. Edison says every business, every work in life, is 98 per cent drugger. She is probably right. And through drugger come the completed tasks of life, the jobs done and done well, the consciousness of having accomplished something, which is about all the happiness there is.

GLOOM

The most wasteful gloom is the depression and remorse that come through being sorry for a mistake or for a wrong step. If you have strength and intelligence you can begin again and do better next time. You can keep from making the same mistake again. And if you do not have strength and intelligence you needn't worry. Somebody else will have to take care of you.

A RULE FOR HOSTS

The London Daily Express, edited by a former American by the way, sets down a rule for Britishers. It goes for Americans, too. We are all hosts when visitors from abroad come to look us over. Says the Express: "This year more than ever Great Britain will be the happy tramping ground of a multitude of overseas visitors. Let each one of us remember that in some sort are their unofficial hosts. A surly waiter, a grasping tradesman, an uncivil omnibus conductor can do as much to give Britain a bad name as the most heedless cabinet minister who ever stirred up ill-feeling between peoples. And, on the contrary, if our visitors meet over here with neighborly attentions and friendly gestures, they will cherish them among their happiest memories, and set them down to the credit of the country."

TEACHERS BY THOUSANDS

It is said half the teachers of the world will be represented by the 50,000 delegates, who are expected at the convention of the World Federation of Education associations next year in Denver. What a new world would be created for us all if only someone were wise enough to tell those teachers what to teach.

SLAP ON THE BACK

An English woman is suing another for slapping her on the back at a bridge party, saying: "Shall we have tea now?" Many will sympathize with the woman who brings suit. Why slap anybody on the back or anywhere else? We should be sufficiently civilized by this time to do away with sign language.

THE QUESTION BOX

Central Press Wash. Bureau

Answers to questions of information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, 1435 East Twelfth Street, Cleveland, O., and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions, nor will the estimated value of old coins be given.

Is it permissible to show a motion picture of an actor or actress after they are dead?

Yes, producers very often continue to exhibit pictures made before their star players died. The pictures are run until they no longer have any drawing power.

From Language Teacher

How can I go about getting the name of a foreign girl about 18, to correspond with, preferably in Switzerland or Spain?

Call your local board of education. Schools often encourage their pupils to carry on a correspondence with foreign students and one of the language teachers probably will be able to give you several names.

Cadet Qualifications

What are the qualifications to enter West Point military academy and Annapolis naval academy, age, education and physical requirements and pay while there?

To enter West Point a boy must be at least 17, and not more than 22. He must be at least 64 inches tall and pass other rigid physical tests. A cadet's pay is $780 a year, plus 80 cents per day for rations, which amounts to $1,072, a sufficient sum to meet all his needs while at the academy.

To enter Annapolis a boy must be at least 16, and not more than 20. He shall not be less than five feet two inches tall at the age of 16, with an increase of one inch for each additional year, and his weight shall be not less than 109 pounds at 16 and an increase of not less than three pounds for each additional year. A midshipman's pay is $780.

Candidates for both institutions must be high school graduates. Further information concerning West Point qualifications may be obtained in a pamphlet, free of charge, from the adjutant general of the army, Washington, D. C., and further information concerning Annapolis may be obtained from the Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

Hart and Meighan

Are Thomas Meighan and William S. Hart still playing in pictures? If so, what were their last pictures?

William S. Hart retired from pictures after he made "Tumbleweed" several years ago. Thomas Meighan still is playing. His last picture was "The Argyle Case."

Correct English

Which is correct, "Oats are thirty-six cents," or "Oats is thirty-six cents?" "Oats are thirty-six cents" is correct.

(NOTE: The following pamphlets may be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin and a large stamped self-addressed envelope for each to Central Press Bureau, P. O. Box 126, Washington, D. C.: "Who's Who in Hollywood," "Swimming," "Seeing Washington," Charles P. Stewart's treatise on "Our Government," and "The World War.")

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

COMFORT

NEW YORK CITY, New York.—Theatre going would be so much more pleasurable if managers devoted more attention to the seating arrangements, with the comfort of their patrons in mind. The average New York theatre seat is an impossible contraption.

In a row of twelve chairs there are thirteen arm rests. Place twelve average men and women in twelve seats, in a row, and you'll find one or two hogs in the bunch who think that their $3.30 or $4.40 entitles them to sprawl over into the confines you have bought and paid for.

THAT'S LIFE

Four times a year the Post Office in New York auctions off unclaimed parcels. These auctions are in the nature of Field Days for folks with adventurous souls and not much money.

I attended one of these auctions a couple of days ago. A woman on my left acquired half a dozen volumes of Emily Dickinson for a dollar. And three swordfish snouts were bought by a little chap, just in front of me, with bulbous blue eyes and spats.

"I'll hang 'em in th' den," he explained, with a disappointed giggle.

A gloomy individual emitting a fragrance of gin and cigarettes ambled over and shook his head sadly.

"Yeh," he said, "that's life." "Whaddya mean, 'that's life'?" queried the owner of the swordfish snouts.

"Last year," replied the gloomy individual, irrelevantly, "I come here an' coughed up one fish for a pair of baby shoes. When I got 'em home, the missus finds two ten dollar bills in th' toes."

"An' if you think that ain't life," continued the Gloomy One, "I kin tell you of another case where—"

But neither the man with the swordfish nor Your Correspondent paused to listen.

THE MEDICINE MAN

"MORTALITY RATE" OF SENATE UNUSUALLY HIGH THIS YEAR

CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—If union labor boycotted me for saying so, I still would testify that I was sorry to see Senator Coleman L. Blease beaten for renomination in South Carolina.

Blease pre-eminently represented the proletariat in a section where the aristocracy thinks it ought to be boss. Naturally the aristocracy hated him. Nothing is funnier than to see the aristocracy defeat the proletariat's champion.

The aristocracy did not beat Blease, at that. Labor's opposition was what beat him. The labor folk said he had gone over to "invisible government." If so, of course beating him was all right, but I don't believe it. I never heard of any proof he ever gave of it, except by voting to confirm Judge John J. Parker's appointment to the U. S. supreme court. I admit this was a bad break, but if I had been union labor, I would have put it down, in Blease's case, as an honest mistake—considering his long record as a square shooter.

True, Coley frequently has been a rough talker, in and out of the senate, but that was largely to irritate the aristocracy; therefore, in my opinion, allowable, even if poor taste.

HIS VOTE FOR Judge Parker appears to have been union labor's last straw in the case of another Democratic renomination-seeker—Senator Joseph E. Ransdell, defeated in Louisiana.

However, labor's bill of particulars against Ransdell was fuller than against Blease. The old legislator from the creole commonwealth was accused of having been a political and economic reactionary throughout his whole public career, and that meant a long, long time. In point of service Ransdell is the oldest member of congress—22 years in the senate; four decades all told.

Without disputing that his sympathies have been mainly on the side of privilege, he has done an immense amount of useful work, and personally he is a wonderfully likable old man.

GOV. HUEY P. LONG, who will succeed Senator Ransdell (the Democratic nomination being election's equivalent in Louisiana) will furnish, from all accounts, an entirely satisfactory substitute for whatever oratorical fireworks may be extinguished on Capitol Hill.

see a bunch o' cops helpin' men an' women out of emergency subways exits in the sidewalk. They're proppin' the victims up against a nearby wall an' just as I'm gettin' th' old camera limbered up a little guy comes along an' says: 'What's th' trouble?'

"Howinell do I know?" I says. "Looks like a fire in th' subway, or somethin'."

"Later when all th' victims are lined up, sprawnin' against th' wall, I back off for a long-shot. Then I stop an' look again an' lower th' camera. A cop's bendin' over a guy on th' end o' th' line, takin' his name, an' th' guys with in th' round and rollin' his eyes. I walk up to him to get a good look. Sure enough it's th' same little bird who's ask me five minutes ago what's doin'."

I asked Eddie what he did. "What would you o' done?" he said, when the pyrotechnic Senator Blease retires.

And yet, who knows? Huey's portrait, as received here from his home state, certainly makes him look like a weird type of performer, but somehow it gives the impression of having been painted by an artist who deliberately tried to make him look as grotesque as possible.

Labor indorsed him and labor does not enjoy being represented by a freak.

A great deal of fun has been made of him, but by folk with whom he has had trouble—the spokesmen for big corporations, seemingly, to which he has not given as free a hand as they wanted under his governorship of Louisiana.

I believe I'll reserve my judgment of him until I see him myself.

JAMES F. BYRNES, who will follow Senator Blease from South Carolina (another state where a Democratic nominee's election is a mere formality is bound to suffer rather tame for awhile, after Coley.

To be sure, he has been a representative, but the representatives' discipline is so strict to permit more than a few to introduce themselves.

Outside palmetto circles Byrnes is not particularly well known. His advent in the senate certainly will not be awaited with the breathless interest of Huey P. Long's.

Peter's Adventures

ROOM FOR TWO MORE

"Come on, Busy, let's go look at the Pupa Babies!" cried Peter, who had seen all he wanted to of eggs and grasshoppers. "Can we squeeze through that crowd? Is your Queen cross? If she should catch us slipping away would she be angry?"

Busy chuckled. "Dear me, no! Queen is the best-natured Ant in the world, bless her. 'Always room for one more,' that's her motto, but my guess is she'd be glad to see us go—it would leave that much room for the rest. I'll go ahead and break a path through the mob and you follow. Keep close at my heels and don't get into an argument with anybody. Try as I might to help you, two of us would not count for much against so many. I have an idea! We'll go around the room instead of trying to cut across it, and likely getting into trouble."

Busy edged her way to the edge of the crowd, and Peter followed. To the boy there seemed to be a great difference between the Beeville ruler and the Queen of Ant-hill. The Ant Queen had set to work ere the feast was over, and now was busy laying her eggs and the workers were scuttling back and forth, heaping them in neat piles.

"There's to be a spell of dry weather, thank goodness, so these eggs will not have to be taken out of this upper chamber into the hot sun to dry," muttered Busy over her shoulder. Peter had to guess what she meant, she was going too fast to explain things.

Next: "Hungry Babies."

discard thus far—the Democratic Simmons of North Carolina, the Republican Grundy of Pennsylvania, and the G. O. P. Deneen of Illinois. This does not include Senator Heflin, who was not renominated by the Democrats, indeed, but insists on running independently.

Neither does it include the senators who are dropping out voluntarily—Sullivan of Wyoming, Baird of New Jersey, Gould of Maine, Gillett of Massachusetts, Goff of West Virginia, and Phipps of Colorado, all Republicans.

Sullivan and Baird only were appointed to fill vacancies anyway, and never expected to be more than stop-gaps. This, too, is true of Senator Brock, Tennessee Democrat, who is running to fill next winter's balance of the late Senator Tyson's unfinished term, but is not a candidate for the ensuing six years.

SENATOR GOULD undoubtedly could have succeeded himself, but frankly considers congress a foolish debating society, and gladly gives his seat to Representative Wallace H. White, already victorious in Maine's early election.

Senator Gillett thinks himself too old to serve longer. Besides, though he could have been renominated, Massachusetts is a doubtful proposition at the polls this year.

Senator Goff's health failed after he had looked over the current season's G. O. P. prospects in West Virginia. That is, it failed for a time; the senator subsequently began angling for a diplomatic appointment.

As for Senator Phipps, the candidate he had picked to follow him in office was defeated in the primaries the other day. Whether Phipps would have had any better luck if he had tried it himself is anyone's guess.

ALTOGETHER the scroll of 1930's departing senators is just a dozen names long up to date—a baker's dozen, if Brock's name is included.

And several more may be added to the list in November. An extraordinarily high senatorial mortality rate!

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Suggestions

Orange Cups
Scrub four oranges and cut in halves with a saw edge. Scoop out pulp, remove all the white fiber. Place the cases in cold water until ready to use. Add two cups crushed pineapple and two tablespoons syrup from green mint cherries to the orange pulp. Chop fresh mint very fine. Remove orange cases from water, dry well, dip edges in a thick sugar syrup, then in the finely chopped mint, making rim. Fill with fruit mixture and place a couple of after dinner mints in the center of each.

New Chopper

An interesting household appliance making its bow on the market is a food chopper which stands on rubber pads and may be placed wherever desired. There is a hand rest for the operators' left hand while the right one turns the crank. The ease with which the food is chopped is surprising. The unusual height above the table allows a deep bowl to be set under it to hold all the food being chopped.

Low Blood Pressure Not Serious

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

NOT INFREQUENTLY we find people who are worried because they have low blood pressure.

A friend of mine, a physician, says that when one of these comes to him and says:

"Doctor, what shall I do about my low blood pressure?"

He answers: "Get down on your knees and thank God for it."

That, I think, is as sensible a way to consider it as any. It usually means the individual has inherited a very elastic set of arteries and will live to a very advanced age.

Life insurance companies have placed the arbitrary limit of 100 as the lowest point of systolic blood pressure at which they will accept candidates for insurance. They found when they were compiling statistics that people who had lower pressures than that had a very high mortality rate from tuberculosis.

This is the symptomatic kind of low blood pressure. It is symptomatic of tuberculosis. And since it is easy to make a diagnosis of tuberculosis, the plain sensible thing to do, if you have a low blood pressure, is to make perfectly certain whether you have tuberculosis or not. This can be done by having a careful physical examination, an X-Ray, a sputum examination, and a reading of your temperature every afternoon at 4 o'clock for two weeks.

If, after all these tests, your physician assures you that you have no tuberculosis, you may safely take my friend's advice, get down on your knees and thank God, and throw your cares to the wind. You are destined for a long life. although I do not personally envy you that particular fate.

Of course, there are other symptomatic instances of low blood pressure. Any fever usually is accompanied by a low blood pressure. Anemia of any kind will bring it about. Indeed, any state of debilitation will do so. But the causes are usually easy to determine.

A certain bodily build usually goes with low blood pressure. It is variously called, but most appropriately I think, the asthenic type of individual.

They are the greyhounds. Thin, long, attenuated, with eyes of immemorial sadness. I have described them before. They have dropped stomachs, dropped intestines, floating kidneys. Nothing about them seems to stay put. They are natural pessimists. To them this world is a vale of tears. It is a mistake to tell one of them that he has a low blood pressure, because he will worry about it incessantly. The only thing is, if he didn't worry about his low blood pressure, he would worry just as much about something else. But if he does find out he has a low blood pressure, no explanation will comfort him. There is no use reading one of them this article. It will raise neither his spirits nor his arterial tension.

Keep Home Together; Wife Told

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"MY DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: Am 24 years old and my husband is 15 years my senior. We have been married nine years and have two children, a girl eight and a boy seven.

"The first year we were married we got along very well together, but ever since then he curses and abuses me. I left him once, but grieved so for the children so came back the following week.

"The next time I took the children, but had no money, so had to go back again. He seemed pleased to have me back for a while, but was soon back in his old habits.

"He is ambitious, saves his money, never smokes or drinks, does not care for other women. I cannot manage my own house. I have to wait for him to bring the food home nights to be cooked. He has few friends and does not want me to have any, not even my own relatives, to the house, and does not want me to go to visit them, either. He does not want me to go out, but goes when he wants to and comes when he pleases. If I do go out he times me, and if I am five minutes late he curses me so all the neighbors hear him.

"He buys all the children's clothes, and I cannot have the pleasure of choosing them. He feeds me and gives me a place to sleep no more. I work and earn my clothes. I have bought some furniture, as I like a nice home. He would not buy anything for the home. Do you think I should leave him, and if I did, could I get support for the children and myself, or what would you advise? Virginia Lee, I am very unhappy and cannot go on like this any longer. Have tried to talk to him and make him understand, but he will not listen, but tells me to get out. Even the children are unhappy at times." "E. M. C."

You could probably get a judgment against your husband on the grounds of cruelty and incompatibility, but alimony is hard to collect when the husband is unwilling to pay it, as I presume your husband would be. Does he love the children? Do they love him? He doesn't drink or run with other women. That is good. Although, I presume you wish he did one of the other and was kinder and more generous.

I believe in keeping the home together if possible. If the children are usually happy, wouldn't it be better to adjust yourself to his peculiar nature and stay? You could find some compensations in the children, watching their development and training them so that they shall see and avoid the traits that make for unhappiness in a home, of course not finding fault with their father before enough. If the cursings occur often enough to make the children nervous and unhappy, maybe it would be better to leave and take them, and depend on him being made to give you support. You should be prepared to earn money yourself if you leave however, as you will probably need more to educate and clothe the children than you will be able to get from him.

And don't think you can't go on. I know life, under the circumstances, must be very, very hard. You have my sympathy, but you can go on and on when life is unkind to you. Just live one day at a time, and strength will be given you. Get books and read about the lives of others and see how, after all, you have something to be thankful for.

KATRINKA: You can't get better acquainted with the young man if you have no chance to see him. Katrinka. And if you did you might not like him as well as you do your present boy friend. So why speculate? Of course if circumstances happen to throw you in one another's society and you started to be good friends, you would have to tell your present boy friend that he had a successful rival.

Be Careful, Use Only Plant Henna

By GLADYS GLAD

"DEAR MISS GLAD: Three months ago, my hair was in a terrible condition. I'll admit that it was due to lack of care. However, I have been following the instructions in your "Beauty Culture" booklet, and my hair has improved tremendously. The Castor Oil shampoos have restored by tresses to their former luxuriance and thickness.

I have a number of grey hairs that detract from my appearance. I know that you do not approve of hair-dyeing at home, but as I cannot afford to have the work done in a shop, I am contemplating doing it myself. Is there any difference in the sort of henna one uses?

"MRS. QAULE."

There are two kinds of henna—the natural henna and the chemical henna. These two varieties differ greatly in their activities. The natural, or Egyptian h

AS WIN SECOND FLAG

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

The day of pre-season pessimism on the part of football coaches may be ended.

Knute Rockne, sage of South Bend, more familiarly known as Notre Dame's head grid coach, admits he will have another good team this fall, one that will again make a strong bid for national recognition. Rockne has reached the stage where he is calling a spade nothing more or less than a spade.

"Sure we expect to win all our games," he says. This declaration is exceedingly optimistic, however, as the 1930 schedule mapped out for the Ramblers is simply stupendous. Rockne probably doesn't expect to win all the games but he won't lose many. The two teams which he fears are Carnegie Tech and Southern California.

One thing in Notre Dame's favor this season is the fact Rockne, fully recovered from his insidious siege of thrombosis phlebitis (blood clot), is back once more to personally guide the Rambler ship of state. He is facing the future with fortitude but admits there are storm clouds on the horizon.

His Ramblers must face ten teams, including the Navy, the Army, Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania. Notre Dame will be without the services of Jack Elder and Jack Cannon, those two luminaries of the gridiron who were so largely responsible for the victorious 1929 football season. Elder, the track star, is remembered most for his run which beat the Army, while Cannon, the Columbus boy, was an All-American tackle. The Army will likewise be minus its Eagle and the absence of these stars from their respective schools may keep the two teams on the same basis of approximate parity as last year.

The fact the football rules committee has frowned upon the now celebrated and widely imitated Notre Dame shift is the one other worry which confronts Rockne. Restrained from the use of this maneuver, one department of Rockne's strategy will be seriously hampered.

Glenn Warner, Southern California's mentor, asked him the other day: "Is there any momentum in the Notre Dame shift?" Rockne eloquently defended the shift.

"No!" was the instant reply. "Is a team that shifts laterally capable of momentum, the latter being understood as forward speed? No, again. We at Notre Dame are perfectly willing to come to a full stop after the shift before setting the play in motion. But we do not propose to stand out there, after committing our intention and tactfully inform our opponents of what we intend to do."

Tentative announcements indicate Notre Dame's regular lineup may look something like this:

Charles Arthur Shires runs to four. In four different years he played at four colleges under four different names, and in his first game in the American League—August 20, 1928—he got four hits, one a triple, off Ruffing, then of the Red Sox.

Among the things we never knew 'till now was that Lou Gehrig, Yankee slugging first sacker, was once a pitcher and apparently a pretty good one. Pitching for Columbia University against Williams back in 1923, Gehrig fanned seventeen men in nine innings—and was beaten, 5 to 1. The all-time league record for strikeouts registered in pitching a losing game was established by Fred (Duke) Shaw, of the Boston Braves in 1884. He took a 1 to 2 reverse from the St. Louis Maroons, though striking out eighteen men and holding his opponents to one hit—a single by Joe Quinn, one of the few ball players ever in first company who was born in Australia.

ZUPPKE PUZZLED AT ILLINOIS; YOUNG, LIGHT ELEVEN SEEN

Will Change Offense To Suit Material Is Promise

(Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of articles regarding Big Ten football teams.)

By LEO FISCHER
I. N. S. Sports Writer

URBANA, Ill., Sept. 19.—Bob Zuppke has just one answer when you ask him what sort of a team will represent Illinois on the gridiron during the coming campaign. He shrugs his shoulders in typical Zuppke style and exclaims: "I don't know."

That just about covers the situation down here, where only four letter-winners have returned to help the "little giant" maintain his brilliant pace of the past three seasons, in which he won a pair of Big Ten titles and was beaten just twice.

Zuppke is very frank about the matter. He admits he isn't going to be disappointed no matter what happens.

Zuppke is certainly not exaggerating when he says Illinois will have a young team. Present indications are that at least six sophomores and one junior will be in the lineup in the opening game with Iowa State on October 4. There doesn't seem to be any other course open to the Illini coach after losing an array of talent that included Wietz, Crane and Roush, guards; Gordon and Burdick, tackles; Wolgast, Jolley and Steinman, ends; and Mills, Timm, Humbert, Peters, Lanum and Walker, backs.

Two sophomores loom as the first selections for the end positions. They are Boyd Owen, a flaming red-head who somehow or other got out of South Bend before Rockne saw him and Mark Swanson.

Moving into the backfield, one finds Zuppke specializing in fast light men. Reports are he plans to spring an entirely new style of attack on the Big Ten this fall, abandoning the old double-wing-back offensive used so effectively the past three years. Zuppke admits this is true, explaining that the material on hand is the cause.

BARLOW IN FINALS OF GOLF TOURNEY

Jack Barlow won his way into the finals of the 1930 championship golf tournament at the Xenia Country Club by defeating Millen Davidson, one up in an extra hole semi-final match Thursday afternoon. The semi-finalists were all square at the end of eighteen holes and Barlow won out at the nineteenth hole. The winner turned in a card of 77 for the two rounds while Davidson shot a 78.

Barlow's opponent in the tourney finals will not be determined until two other first round matches and a semi-final match are played off.

"SPEED" CRAWFORD SIGNED TO HELP OPEN EAGLES' MAT CARD

While the Kosut-Hanson battle is getting the majority of attention from local fans, the semi-final bout lined by Promoter Hinkson for next Tuesday night's card at the Opera House cannot be overlooked.

In Earl Smitty, Hinkson is bringing here one of the brightest stars to come up in the welter-weight ranks during the past year. Seldom in these days of high class competition does a youngster headline cards in the larger cities but Smitty has been the feature attraction three times hand running in Indianapolis. Naturally some of the more experienced battlers have beaten him but the sensational manner in which Smitty goes about his wrestling always makes him a good return card. However, instead of meeting Hop-pie as previously announced, the Troy lad will face Earl Hassen, of Columbus. Hassen is considerably more experienced than Smitty but is hardly as powerful and theirs should make one of the fastest bouts of the evening.

"Speed" Crawford, local colored boy, has been signed for the opening bout of the evening. The local boy has shown signs of improving into a first rate star with the right handling and is working like a beaver in order to be in the best possible condition, as he will face James Luke, a Dayton star.

According to Eagle officials reserved seats for the card are going at a rapid clip and a crowd of more than 600 is predicted for the opening bout.

Reserved seats may be obtained at the Harness Cigar Store.

OHIO UNIVERSITY TO DEPEND ON RESERVES FOR FALL DRIVE

(This is the first of a series of articles by Joseph K. Rukenbrod, Ohio sports editor of International News Service, on the prospects of various Ohio college football teams.)

By JOSEPH K. RUKENBROD
International News Service Sports Writer.

ATHENS, O., Sept. 19.—The ability of several good-looking sophomores appears to be the salvation this season of the Ohio University Bobcats, Buckeye Conference champions of 1929 and one of the few undefeated football teams in the United States last year.

The coaches and followers of the Green and White this fall may look rather optimistically at the heavy forward wall, but there's another story behind the line. Russ Kepler and Clark Gabriel are the sole survivors of that great backfield which scored 306 points against strong opposition last season. Jerry Warshower, quarterback, and Ray Hart, a fullback, are working out at these posts now but there's a possibility they may be replaced by newcomers.

Coach Don Peden, who is exceptionally busy right now, stopped only long enough to say that he expects the hardest campaign in the history of the Buckeye Association. "Ohio should have a good team," he said, "but it is going to be very hard to replace six all-Ohio men."

Although there are sixteen lettermen available from the championship squad, Coach Peden and his assistants believe the task of replacing those six all-stars is next to impossible.

The biggest loss was Ray Singer, of Cleveland, quarterback, who was transformed overnight from "just another backfield man" into one of the State's outstanding ball carriers. Another remarkable back was James "Chick" Young, whose mystifying handling of the ball and his plunging through the line was one of the greatest factors in the 1929 team's success.

The other stars who were lost by graduation are John Brammer, of Marietta, and Clyde Cramer, of Uhrichsville, ends, George Hastings, of Malden, Mass., tackle, and James Lang Chevrolet Co. professional basketball team was organized at a meeting of prospective members of the team Thursday night at the Lang sales room.

Bob Yeakley, Fred "Bulldog" Smith, Joe Smittle, Bob Gerner, Lee Ruse and Howell Huston attended the organization meeting, the only absentee being Bill LeSourd. These seven players, all former high school stars, will compose the pro quintet.

The team will play its home games in the new National Guard state armory here and Bill Baxley, manager of the team, plans to open the court season Thanksgiving day night with the possibility Wittenberg College may be booked for this date.

The Lang quintet will schedule games with a number of leading college and pro teams in this locality, including Wittenberg and Wilmington Colleges, Harmon Hall of Lebanon, and others.

The Xenia Shoes made a clean sweep of the three games with the Lang Chevrolet Co. in a Recreation League bowling match Thursday night. O. Luttrell had a series of 523 for the winners and Bice topped the losing quintet with 523. Box score:

Papritan, of Cleveland, guard.

A set of dependable endmen is the important need for this team which must defend its championship laurels. There are four candidates for these two positions who saw service last year but none is outstanding. Coach Peden has shifted Marshall, a center, and Rumbaugh, halfback, to the wings in his attempt to develop another great line. Last season's forward wall permitted only thirteen points to be scored against the Bobcats in nine games.

Marshall Griffith, 235-pounder, is certain of holding down his old post at tackle. Three other lettermen are battling for the other tackle job. They are Swindell, Goos and Tarzinski.

George Brown, regular pivot man last year, is back at his berth again and will be given ample support by Taraschke.

Ohio is well fortified with guards, Christianman, Uslaner, Crites and Esmont would make any coach happy. All are high-type linemen.

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Industrial stocks and utilities broke sharply as a heavy selling wave swept with violence over the market today. Further losses in commodity prices added the bears in their raid on leading industrial shares, and the uncovering of stop-loss orders speeded up the downward movement in some sections of the list. Losses ranged from 2 to 7 points.

United States Steel dropped off 2 1/2 points to 164 1/2 behind a heavy barrage of selling. Allied Chemical lost about 8 points; J. I. Case 5 1/2; American Can 3; General Electric 1 1/2; Westinghouse 4; Electric Power 3. Radio was under fire and sold under 38, while Radio Keith lost about 2 points at 31 3/4. A dozen or more of the active utilities lost from 1 to 2 points, while most of the rails and specialties held fairly steady. The balance of the European bond list was firm.

Speculation and Investment
Article No. 3

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Every important industrial enterprise in this country owes its origin to the venturesome or speculative spirit of those who first created it. Without speculation there would be no airships, no automobiles, no telephones, no ocean steamships, no skyscrapers. All of the modern conveniences enjoyed by the present generation were furnished through the genius and energy of past generations: men who were willing to give of themselves and their substance to develop and perfect a mechanism of one kind or another.

Every oil well drilled into the ground represents a speculation of from $10,000 to $40,000. It is not known whether, after the well has been completed, a single penny will ever return to those who made the investment. This is a part of the price of development of the important oil industry and it makes little difference if the funds are provided from the income of the company or in the form of new capital, furnished by the stockholders.

Speculation, therefore, seems to be absolutely essential to the progress of a country, and intelligent speculation has not only brought rich rewards to the individual speculator, but untold benefits to the country as a whole. Wherein does the danger of speculation lie is a question which might be fairly asked, and the replies thereto are two-fold:

First, much of the so-called doors. The meeting grows more inspiring each night. Personal messages to the public every night. Afternoon healing will be at Mediums Rest, 1017 E. Main St., Friday, Saturday and Sunday. We are looking for state workers who will really interest you.

Mr. and Mrs. William Green, E. Market St., have returned from Fox Lake, Ontario, Can. in company with Mrs. Carrie Pleasant, of Indianapolis, they spent the summer there. Mrs. Pleasant will visit indefinitely with her cousin, Miss L. J. Payne, before returning to her home.

Miss Leanna Perry, of Yellow Springs, entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Hamilton, Tuesday evening, September 16 a number of her friends. Those present were Misses Henrietta Adams, Petruha Williams, Virginia and Josephine Hamilton, Mabel Dunbar, Mary Dennings, Juanita Hughes, Elizabeth and Gladys Cassell, Josephine Thompson, of Yellow Springs; Messrs. Lou Rickman, John Roberts, James Harris, Joseph Eyrd, Lawrence Jackson, Martin Nared, Virgil Mabry, Nish Hough, Kerman Hood, of Springfield; Gartfield Carter, William Allen and John Scurry, Xenia; Leroy Adams and Edward Perry of Yellow Springs.

Mrs. Lulu Clark, E. Church St., who has been the guest of relatives in Cochran, Ga., returned Wednesday. She reports a delightful visit.

Mrs. Tilpa Baber, 725 E. Church St., has in her home a night blooming cereus. They bloom only every seven years.

Miss Ann Jennings, of Indianapolis, Ind., a student at Wilberforce University, was the house guest of Miss Carolyn Ward, E. Market St., over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Ward and family, of Richmond, Ind., were the delightful guests, of Mr. and Mrs. William Ward, E. Market St.

Mrs. Amanda Porter, E. Main St., is among the sick.

Mrs. Ruth Locust and children, who have been the guests of her mother, Mrs. Greenway and sister, Miss Marie and other relatives, left for her home in Topeka, Kan., Tuesday.

Mr. Abraham Cunningham, E. Market St., is very ill at his home.

Mr. Payne Middleton, of Los Angeles, Calif., is visiting with relatives and friends for a few days.

BEER AND WHISKEY
BRING $300 FINE

As a sequel to a raid conducted by police at his home Thursday night, Raymond Moore, 24, colored, 1142 E. Main St., pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing liquor and was fined $300 and costs by Municipal Judge E. Dawson Smith Friday morning. Moore was committed to jail to work out the assessment.

The raid was made by four officers, who seized seventy-eight bottles of home brew beer and a pint of whiskey. The beer was discovered in a padlocked box but the whiskey bottle was in a large can hidden under the ground.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Market at King
W. H. Tilford, Pastor

Every Sunday is a challenge to every one in Xenia as to what sort of choice they will make. To choose between the best and highest and some lesser good. To choose between the church and something else, not as helpful. Choose the church and find yourself growing. Attend Sunday.

9:15 a. m. Sunday School. A good school to attend. The Bible is taught interestingly. Rally Day program October 19th.

10:30 a. m. Morning Worship. Mrs. Pearl Armstrong directs a chorus choir and invites into its membership any who desire to serve the church through the ministry of music. Practice every Friday evening. Mrs. William Anderson, presides at the organ and spaces the service with inspiring organ numbers. Children's object sermon each Sunday. Children are present at the opening services and are dismissed just before the adults sermon. Sermon for Sunday next, "Attitudes Towards Christ." Many find this service helpful and inspiring.

7:30 p. m. Union services. Rev. Joel R. Lunsford at Second U. P. Church.

The church needs you. But you need the church more than the church needs you. Appreciate the value of the church to you by attending Sunday.

WHY BELONG TO CHURCH?

Daniel Poling says, "I ought to belong to the Church because I ought to be better than I am. Henry Ward Beecher once said: 'The church is not a gallery for the exhibition of eminent Christians, but a school for the education of imperfect ones.'"

"I ought to belong to the Church because of what I can give to it and do through it, as well as because of what I may get out of it. The Church is not a dormitory for sleepers, it is an institution of workers; it is not a rest camp, it is a front line trench."

Creamed Comments On S.S. Lesson

The goal of this quarter's lessons is to discover through a study of the experiences, attitudes and actions of representative men and women of the Old Testament the factors which determine their characters, and to create in us an earnest desire and purpose to avoid their mistakes and to express in our lives the commendable spirit and ideals of those who lived in harmony with God.

I. Abraham, the pioneer of faith. He launched the religion of one God and he dared to make a great venture in this faith; he submerged his judgment and desires to this faith; he stood firm when tried; he made much of worship.

II. Jacob, a selfish man transformed. His natural disposition was bad; he was selfish; his mother failed to help him; he was a trickster; but seeing his faults, he made a great struggle between yielding to his own traits and yielding to God and finally when yielding to God he became a new man, with a new name, Israel.

III. Moses, a courageous leader. In his youth, racial loyalty got him into trouble, but forty years experience as a shepherd taught him self-control, helpfulness and communion with God so that God could use him as Israel's leader.

IV. Deborah, a leader in a national emergency. She saw the effect of pagan influences on her people and ventured, though a woman, to speak for God. She loved her people and believed in God's help in time of need; with that faith she promised inspiration and success to the leaders called to fight evil. With true zeal for Jehovah, she gave him all the credit.

V. Naomi and Ruth furnish a study in racial relationships. Ruth sensed God in the life of her mother-in-law, Naomi, and cared enough for race or creed if she might only return with Naomi to her homeland. Naomi matched her spirit by accepting her, though a foreigner as a member of her family. Ruth was honest and devoted to all that was good.

VI. Hannah, a godly mother, a woman strong in prayer. Hannah dedicated her son early to God and saw to it that he had the best possible religious instruction. She did not forget her boy when he was away from home; her life was centered in the religious life and service of her son.

VII. Saul, a man of great possibilities who failed. He had a good start—a fine physique, the applause of the people, the assistance of Samuel. He lost his grip on God; he enjoyed self praise; jealousy ruined his disposition; ingratitude distorted his judgment; he came to a tragic death.

VIII. Jonathan and David, a noble friendship. David, a poor shepherd boy won public favor when he slew Goliath, Israel's enemy. Jonathan, the king's son saw in David a great soul whom he loved and David proved worthy of that friendship; they were true when tested. David's friendship reached to Jonathan's crippled son to whom he showed remarkable kindness.

IX. Amos, a herdsman called of God to be a prophet. He had the one purpose of making known God's judgment against the iniquities of Israel; he was scathing, fearless, unyielding, uncompromising. He had the one purpose of making known God's judgment against the iniquities of Israel.

X. Josiah, a royal reformer. He made the obeying of God his first duty; he insisted on the true worship of God; he decreed the destruction of idolatry; he ordered the temple repaired; he planned the renewal of the passover feast; he was a true religious leader.

XI. Jeremiah, a prophet of individual religion. He grieved over the sins of his generation; with the assurance of God's help, he rose to the plans of a heroic soldier, fearlessly denouncing all forms of sin. He faced death, but never wavered from his fixed purpose to tell the truth.

XII. Jonah, a narrow nationalist rebuked. He refused to obey God's call to preach at Nineveh, finally was overpowered, went, preached, demurred and made bold to criticize God because he was merciful.

Discussion on Questions S.S. Lesson

1. Who were the Bible characters of the quarter's lessons and what characteristics in each one of them make men great?
2. What makes men and women great today?
3. How do these lessons show that the Bible is a modern book in its principles and precepts?
4. How explain the fact that so many men of the Old Testament had so many faults and yet were used of God?

What are the objectives of a Sunday School Rally Day?

It has been well said that the object of rally day is four-fold: first vivifying the members of the school; second, the enrollment of new members; third, creating an interest in the school in such individuals as may not be lined up with the Christian program; fourth to instill new enthusiasm in the workers of the school.

How secure the best return of a Sunday School Rally Day?

To secure the best return, it is necessary to decide upon definite objectives, have well chosen committees with definitely outlined plans to carry out objects which have been agreed upon; three very important committees are the program committee which will assist the general chairman arrange an attractive and helpful service for the day with proper follow-up programs; an invitation committee that will see to it that all old members are present and others who would naturally belong to the school urged to be present, particularly parents who have children in the school; a decoration committee who will make the place of meeting most inviting; a publicity committee that will use the public press to the best advantage with other aids such as personal letters, window cards, bill boards and the telephone; a welcome committee will add much to the pleasure of the day, making every one feel happy they attended; a transportation committee, providing ways of attending the service is important and finally a follow-up committee to conserve results.

two centuries the statue has been preserved in the parish church of Vancouver. Elaborate ceremonies attended the transferring of the statue to its former site.

RELIGION AND OUR PUBLIC SCHOOL EDUCATION

The committee of superintendents of the National Education Association, has included as one of its four major objectives, "To promote the development of an appreciation of the force of law and of love that is operating universally." In interpretation of this objective, the committee makes the following comment:

Man craves more than a knowledge of himself, of nature and of organized society. He hungers and thirsts after righteousness. Knowing his own imperfections, he feels that somewhere there is perfection. The great universe calls to his spirit and unless he ignorantly or willfully closes his ears, he hears the voice of God.

No greater task rests upon the secondary school than to help its pupils to find their God. How this is to be done is the greatest of problems. Of one thing only are we sure; we cannot solve this problem by ignoring it. There is no single way to apprehend infinity. Each in his own way may draw near.

The Theater

To Eleanor Boardman, wife of King Vidor, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer director, goes the coveted lead in "The Great Meadow," for which she successfully competed against almost all the blondes in Hollywood.

The lead in the Mary Mattox,logue.

Anyone who saw "Strange Interlude" on the stage will appreciate the advantage of this. It took the average person in the audience the better part of an act to learn how to tell when a character stopped talking and started thinking.

The test is the first hint that Paramount is considering a talkie version of the odd O'Neill play. Clarence Brown, the director, tried his best to sell M-G-M on the idea and failed. The possibility of such a picture passing the censors intact seems remote.

Constance Cummings, who went to Hollywood from Broadway to play opposite Ronald Colman, fell down on the task and work stopped until another lead can be obtained. The picture is "Prodigal" and a first assignment to support Colman was considered a difficult task.

A cycle of railroad pictures is approaching. Warners and R. K. O. have just finished two and now

Fox announces that Victor McLaglen's next role will be an engineer. The name of the picture is "No Favors Asked." This will be Vic's second railroad film, an earlier effort having been "The Baggage Smasher." McLaglen has just brought his wife home from La Jolla, Calif., where she was injured recently in an auto accident.

Working with the utmost secrecy, Paramount is reported to have filmed a test scene from Eugene O'Neill's double-act drama, "Strange Interlude."

The test was made with three players, Mary Astor, William Stack and Kenneth McKeena. The scene chosen was the library episode in the O'Neill drama. First, the characters were photographed and their voices were recorded in the conventional manner.

The famous "asides" were then obtained as follows: "A silent camera photographed the characters again. Next, thoughts of each were spoken in another person's voice. This sound track and the silent film were matched, and, presto! An aside which is easy to differentiate from the direct dia-

BLACK WALNUT TREES WORTH GROWING

The black walnut was one of Ohio's most valuable commercial timber trees. Occurring more sparingly in the original forest than other forest species, its lumber has brought the highest price of any native forest tree. Its nut has long been prized for food by man and rodent, and its popularity in this respect is increasing as may be attested by the growing demands of confectioners, and other manufacturers of food products.

Industry has made such great inroads on the timber stands that the older walnut trees have been largely cut for lumber. The species does not reseed itself naturally to the extent of many Ohio trees because of the large seed which precludes covering with sufficient soil to promote germination, and because the nuts are sought alike by man and many denizens of the woods.

Land owners, therefore, might well take more interest in the artificial planting of the black walnut, in the opinion of Edmund Seerest, chief of the forestry department at the Ohio Experiment Station. The small waste places on farms where the soil is fertile and moist are well adapted to the growth of the species. Walnut should not be planted on thin soils, nor heavy wet clays; neither should it be grown in soils too swampy or wet for the growth of annual crops. The best trees in the original forest grew along streams and in alluvial valleys, but there are also many fertile soils on upland farms in Ohio where the tree will thrive.

Walnut plantings may be established by use of nuts, planted directly on the site, or by the use of one year seedlings which have been grown in nursery rows. Direct seeding with nuts is usually best, gather the nuts as soon as they fall from the trees, and plant them with husks on about 2 inches deep any time in November before the ground freezes. The nuts can be planted by making a hole in the ground with a spud, placing the nut, and covering by stepping on the hole with the heel of the shoe. In forest plantings space the nuts about 4 feet apart. Nuts can be carried over winter and planted in early spring, but they must not become dry. If carried over, place in a shallow hole and cover with leaves and enough soil to keep them in place. It is not necessary to plow the ground on the planting site unless the soil is heavy. Do not plant in dense woods or under the shade of trees. Failure will result. Large openings in woods may be used.

Walnuts planted on good soil will grow rapidly and such plantings will be profitable and a source of pride to the owner.

MELON PATCH IS RUINED BY YOUTHS

Alleged to have caused damage estimated at $200 by tearing up a melon patch at the home of Oscar S. Hull, 409 Cincinnati Ave., railroad carpenter, seven youths rounded up by police Thursday night are being held at police headquarters.

Four of the boys are 16 years of age and their cases will be transferred to Juvenile Court. Three others who gave their names as Carl Hipshire, 18, Robert Terrell, 19, and Delbert Johnson, 17, were arraigned before Municipal Judge E. D. Smith Friday on petit larceny charges, pleaded not guilty and will have a hearing at 9 a. m. Saturday.

Arthur McDufford, Richard Vance, Donald Wright and Pearl Hunter are the minor youths in custody. Police claim that the seven youths, after eating their fill, proceeded to tear up the melon patch, kicking up growing vegetables.

SILLS AT REST

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 19.—In a quiet ceremony devoid of pomp, Milton Sils, "the man" of the motion picture screen, will be buried today.

Close friends of Sils' widow, Doris Kenyon, disclosed that the blonde screen actress plans to return to the concert stage as a means of forgetting her grief.

YELLOW SPRINGS

The W. C. T. U. will meet at the residence of Mrs. Ralph Howell, on Limestone St., Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Carrie L. Flatter, county president of the Union will give a talk on "Child Welfare."

The Ladies' Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church will meet with Miss Ella Pog on the Enon Road, Thursday afternoon. There will be a farewell reception in the church parlors Tuesday evening for Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Patton who are leaving to take up their work in Ottawa, O. Rev. Patton has been pastor of the Methodist Church here for the past six years and during that time he and Mrs. Patton have made many friends who regret to see them leave. An invitation to attend the reception is extended to all their friends. Rev. H. A. Simmons of the Ottawa church has received the appointment to this church and will be here to take charge of the services Sunday.

Howard Hackett and James Donley left Wednesday for Mt. Washington, near Cincinnati, where they will enter St. Gregory Seminary. Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Dawson have returned from a week's visit with relatives in North Carolina. Their daughter, Mrs. T. R. Warren returned home with them for a ten days' visit.
